4/23/09 – C&T bankruptcy attorney Kimberly S. Winick selected to serve as advisor for new CEB publication on ground leases.

Kim Winick has accepted an invitation to serve as a consultant providing editorial and practical commentary with respect to the Bankruptcy Issues chapter of Continuing Education of the Bar's new edition of California Ground Lease Practice. The book will focus on specific provisions that create unique issues for parties to ground leases, and is designed to provide practical, useful information to attorneys representing parties in negotiating and drafting development ground leases, where the tenant intends to construct some type of commercial project, as well as free-standing ground leases (which may or may not be located on a "pad" or "outparcel" in a shopping center) where the tenant intends to operate its business (such as a bank, restaurant, pharmacy, etc.). This new edition of California Ground Lease Practice is scheduled to be published later this year.
